

A cross of dorking male and brahma hen produces fine capons, and they are in great demand at the present time. The production of capons should be made a leading business on all poultry farms.

Broom corn should be a profitable crop. Not only is the seed profitable as food for poultry, but the brush commands a ready sale. At the present time the supply is short and prices well up. It is a crop that is as easily grown as corn. as corn.

It is often the case with a flock of hens that a few of them lay while the others produce nothing. It will pay to select the layers and get rid of the un-profitable hens. It does not pay to permit two or three prolific hens to support a dozen that are idle.

Don't forget that the frost can pul-verize the soil much better than you can do it with any kind of mechanical appliances. By plowing the ground early and allowing the frost to enter, you not only reduce the lumps and clods, but also turn up many worms to the surface to be destroyed by cold.

Mr. William Spanner the president

Mr. William Spooner, the president of the Massachusetts Horticultural society and veteran rose grower, of Jamaica Plains, recommends white hellelore for keeping off the pests that infest the rose in the open ground. He commences as soon as the plants come into leaf, and by a persistent use of it keeps the foliage in fine shape, as all can testify who have seen his roses on exhibition.

The first duty of a farmer is to supply his home with all the various luxuries that can be grown on a farm. With the many varieties of fruits and vegetables that can be produced on a farm the farmer should be able to have nearly all his wants supplied, so far as his table is concerned. In estimating the receipts for the year the farmer should always include those articles supplied by him to his family.

A man to successfully run a farm

A man to successfully run a farm should have some sort of qualification for the business, as well as in the case of any other business. A man with a love for fine animats has one qualification for successful farming, and a man who loves rural life better than town life has another. The art of creating a fine landscape is greater than the art of painting one. Good farming creates painting one. Good farming creates good landscapes.

Experience has proven that while trees on which stable manure was used were healthy and vigorous, yet they were short-lived, while such as were fertilized by ashes were equally vigorous and far more durable. The conclusions thus forced upon us were that heavy application of potash and bone made healthy trees, while any large amount of nitrogen led to the pellows and other diseases.—J. H. Hale.

Farmers' Club report from experience.

Farmers' Club report from experiments in feeding ground feed to hogs as follows: 3½ pounds of ground corn—and cob meal produced 1 pound dressed pork, 5½ pounds corn meal without cob produced 1 pound dressed pork, and it took port, 32 pounds corn meal without cob-produced 1 pound dressed pork, and it took over 6 pounds of grain corn to produce 1 pound of pork. Thus the corn at the then prices, fed whole, brought 59 cents per bushel; 66 cents when ground with the cob.

We are told that a Laramie, (Wyo.) We are told that a Laramie, (Wyo.) sheep man has purchased 1000 acres of land in the Laramie plains, which he proposes to irrigate and grow crops of Swedish turnips on, with which to winter his sheep. He claims to be able to raise six tons of turnips to the acre, and says he can winter 2000 head on one ton of turnips each, without hay. This strikes us pretty strong of turnips.—Mirror.

It is not the amount of food con-sumed, but that digosted, which keeps the horse strong and plump. I put two quarts of stones the size of small hen quarts of stones the size of small nen eggs in one of my mangers lately. The horse did not digest them—in fact he did not eat them, but he eats his oats more slowly now because he can't get then so rapidly, and as a result digests them fully. It is as easy for an animal to waste food by bolting it as to poke it through a hole in the manger.—Farm Journel.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Something about corsets.—Dr.—Keilogg, of Michigan, has given great attention to the subject of artificial deformities, the result of the fashions of dress and ornament among savage and civilized people. He says the Alaskan women stick a pin or fish-bone through the lip. Other Indian women flatten the heads of their offspring or squeeze them into the shape of a pincapple. The Chinese compress the female foot. But the paim of physical disregard of the laws of health he awards to the civilized people who use stays and corcivilized people who use stays and cor-

In half an hour it is ready to use. Dose, half a cup full overy three or four hours. Drink it hot at first. When the cold and fever is broken up use it cold for a tonic. This simple remedy goes to the right spot, curing when the most powerful and dangerous medicines have failed. I was myself all broken down with the grip, and I thought I should be lucky if I got all over it in three months. I went to drinking boneset tea and incortyeight hours was completely cured and feeling the best for years. The tall, heavy, substantial book-case of a generation ago is seen no more. It has given place, snys the Art Interchange, to the modern book-case, a cabinet-like structure of panels and mirrors, open work in metal over plate glass, and much beauty of fluish, in polished woods. Some of the handsomest of these book-cases are of antique ook with these book-cases are of antique oak, with carvings and mountings of wrought iron or bronze and with plate glass doors, covered by a grill of glided wire of deli-

Hardwood floors have become almost indispensable in modern house build-ing, and the advantages of healthfulness, cleanliness and comfort gained by their use can searcely be overestimated. For-merly a hardwood floor was an expen-sive luxury, obtainable only by the rich, but since the introduction of wood carpeting and this parquetry, such a floor may be had at an expense of little more than an ordinary carpet.

Green rests the eyes, and resting the eye often means to rest the nerves; and the refreshment of the eye is as necessary to comfortable life as the re-newal of the other bodily forces by food. mewal of the other bodily forces by food. There never was a time before in this country when so much attention was paid to the esthetic part of the dinner table. A decoration of living plants is more beautiful than a surp of satin plush, or other expensive material in the center of the dinning table. An addition to the tably cannot be beautiful if it is unsuitable.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Arrows, fillets, combs and pins spark-ling with procious stones find the prettiest positions possible among the curly fluffiness of the modern coiffure.

The three-quarter coats of the hund-somest costumes are fashioned from the same fabric as that of the gown. All the choicest models are made this spring en suite.

Delicately chased flower nots of silver, holding the most exquisite artificial or natural blooms, are stationed in the centre or upon one corner of the well-appointed dinner table.

A single long-stemmed flower droop-ing over the sides of the spiral-shaped wase imbedded in moss is frequently the only floral beauty to be found upon the fashionable lunch table.

An inexpensive but very pretty table commodity is known as the bracken ware. It has been given this name on account of its brownish groundwork, upon which rest sprays of ferns tinted as one sees them in the last days of an autumn.

Fancy hooks can be purchased in nickel silver, plain gold or studded with gems. As a matter of course the clev-er imitation is also on hand, and the woman who can not afford the real article may clasp her corsets with a very wearable specimen and one which will be sure to outlast the fad.

Do not wear a thing because you hear Do not wear a thing because you hear it is in the tip of style, unless very certain that it suits your particular makeup of face and figure. Every woman owns a distinctive personality at which she could dater; Look to your face; study your features and those of the women about you. Note your mistakes and their successes in costuming. There is no more efficacious mode of achieving excellent results.

A glove which will hardly be accepted in refined circles is of gold, these extra-vagances being annual actured to match vagances being innulactured to match the gold foot gear for so long a time in the market. The prettiest gloves for evening wear are of finely glazed kid in cream, lemon, and pearl tints. A hand cover very popular, for the promenade is of antelope skin. It is soft and pliable and appears in the form of card cases, were and predeted by purses and pocketbooks.

The introduction of the siphon teapot into society "high teas" promises to aid very materially in dispensing hospitali-ties. The duties of the hostess who takes this method of entertaining are anything but light, so that this silver anything bit fight, so that this silver trifle, which combines beauty, utility, and dispatch, will quickly become a favorite. By simply placing the bit of china under the spout it will in a second's time be filled to the brine. The tea continues to pour until stopped, so that a great many cups can receive attention upon short notice.

The gift is wrought to represent corn cars and clover leaves and interlaced with a ribbon bearing the inscription: "The children of Denmark have weven this crown for the occasion of the golden wedding of King Christian IX. and Queen Louise on May 22, 1892."

Oneny Victoria has just been chilical

Queen Victoria has just been obliged to make a solemn announcement to the press, by means of a letter from her private secretary. Gen: Sir Heary Pon-sonby, to the effect, that she will no longer present any gratuity to mothers giving birth to triplets, unless in cases of altogether exceptional poverty and destitution. Hitthere has been a popular delusion, that the queen's bounty was due as a matter of right and privilege to the parents of three or more children at a birth, and the amount of the bounty was rated at the amount of the bounty was rated at £1

BABY STATISTICS.

Some Very Useful Information About the Wee Mites.

A baby is born at every beat of the human heart That is more than one for every tick of the clock. These "living jewels" (as the poet calls babies) "dropped unstained from heaven" take wings and fly back whence they came January 1 to December 31 between 38,000,000 and 40,000,000 living jewels are dropped into this cold world. There are more baby girls than boy babies. The proportion of female births to male births is as 100 to 90. So that between 2,000,000 and 2,000,000 nears girls tween 2,000,000 and 2,000,000 more girls are born in the world each year than boys. There is always a surplus of wo-babies keeps up the supply.

The rate of infant mortality is enormous. In round numbers 5,000,000 babies never live long enough to talk, 5,003,000 more never have a chance to walk or run, and 5,000,000 more never get old enough to go to school. If you wait of run, and 5,000,000 more never get old enough to go to school. If you are good at figures get out your paper and pencil and try this sum. Here is a simple problem in arithmetic. A baby is born to-day (1892). Now suppose its ancestors had married at the age of twenty-one from the time of our Lord—fifty-ar appearations had. fifty-six generations—how many grand-fathers has that baby had? The an-swer, in round numbers, will be three figures, followed by fifteen ciphers. Professor Proctor one time figured that if from a single pair each husband and wife had married at the age of twenty-one for 5.000 years, the yequilation of one for 5,000 years, the population of the earth, if there had been no deaths, would now be 2,199,915, followed by 144 ciphers. Again, if we go back to the time of ciphers.

Again, if we go back to the time of Christ, or fifty-six generations, how many births, do you think, must have taken place in order to bring you, who read these lines, into the world? If you try to get the exact figures they will bother you. But to change the problem. Say that all the babies born in one year are one foot in length. Now if laid head to feet they would stretch out from New York to Hong Kong and some to spare. If the 40,000,000 babies could walk past the office of The Baby at the rate of twenty per minute, or 1,200 per hour, during the entire year, by the time the last child passed 312 numbers of this paper would be published, and might be read by six-year-old boys and girls, who were just born when the procession started.

Suppose that each baby born this year.

when the procession started.
Suppose that each baby born this year, weighed eight pounds; look at the combined weight! It would take half a dozen cradles of the size, capacity and strength of our new steel war cruisers to hold the infants. When twins arrived in Artenus Ward's family somebody called it an episode. "Yes," said Artenus, "two episodes waying about eighteen pounds jintly." In the foregoing baby figures we have allowed for episodes. episodes.

Here it is in his own words: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a lacking cough which I thought I never would get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success and concluded to try cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others and all speak well of it." 50-cent bottles for sale by druggists.
